MARKET ACTIVITY:

For the past 17 years, part of our strategy at Composites Atlantic Limited (CAL) has been the development of the international market. These efforts have resulted in cooperation on a variety of projects with our customers. Major contracts have been developed with partnership agreements in the spirit of dividing the risk and increasing understanding and know-how. Each partner is benefiting from cost reduction as well as outstanding project management, and program support. We provide maximum dedication and services to our customers and our track record is second to none.

ENGINEERING EXPERTISE:

Our engineering capabilities are optimized by the structure of our organization. We benefit from group support on software. A data base is utilized for material characterization, manufacturing technique transfer, system design, and project management. We offer our clients superior testing and analysis.
